Lauren Stott is a National Mathematics Consultant with Big Ideas Learning. She travels primarily along the East Coast, conducting presentations and workshops for district leaders and teachers so that students are able to experience success with mathematics through highly engaging instruction.

Prior to joining Big Ideas Learning, Lauren served as the Elementary Mathematics Coordinator for Brandywine School District in Delaware, where she designed curriculum and provided instructional support to teachers, administrators, and parents. Previously, she taught accelerated and inclusive mathematics to sixth through eighth grade students at Perryville Middle School in Maryland. During her time with Cecil County Public Schools, she served as Department Chair and provided district-wide professional development to teachers.

Lauren holds a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education from Salisbury University with a certification in Middle School Mathematics. She received her Master of Education degree in School Leadership from Wilmington University.
